

Action is hope.

There is no hope without action. - Ray Bradbury

In 2015, the Wisconsin HOPE Lab conducted and released research that revealed the economically precarious lives led by some undergraduates. We shared that work with Congressional leaders, the White House, and in the New York Times.

Our thought leadership on Free College plans, the need to address housing and food insecurity among students, and the importance of investing in the nation's community colleges is supporting real change.

We are poised to do so much more.

This holiday, please take action.
